

I am writing this correspondence to the FCC because of my concern that the pending sale/transfer by Rainbow-1 of its licenses to operate at the 61.5 frequencies to Echostar is not in the best interest of the public.

In the past, your rulings have generally encouraged increased competition and consumer choices. Any transfer at this time would effectively curtail operations of VOOM and eliminate one of only a handful of satellite service providers.